Colour key: green - direct blood, blue - collateral, purple - marriage-linked blood, amber - in-law, grey - unclassified. Colours describe the saved relationship classification, not documentary certainty.

SUCCESSION AT A GLANCE

Earliest recorded holder to present. Relationship descriptions are reproduced from saved published paths; categories are not evidence ratings.

1. John Grey of Rotherfield and Avice Marmion, Lord of Rotherfield, holder of the Grey Bedale inheritance | early 14th century - 1317

Transfer: Aiskew formed part of the FitzHugh inheritance and appears to have been brought into the Bedale family through the marriage of Avice Marmion to John Grey of Rotherfield.

Holding: Joint / Grey marital acquisition associated with the Bedale estate

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

2. Agnes FitzAlan and Gilbert de Stapleton, Knight, holder of the Stapleton moiety of Bedale | 1317 - 1317

Transfer: Partition of the FitzAlan inheritance after livery of the co-heirs; half the manor of Bedale was assigned to each sister, with Agnes's moiety passing through her marriage to Gilbert de Stapleton.

Holding: Share / One moiety of the Bedale estate; associated Aiskew interests are not separately quantified / Stapleton moiety

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

3. Sir Robert Grey, Knight, lord of the Grey moiety of Bedale, holder of two parts of Ayscugh | 1388 - 1408

Transfer: Inherited or succeeded to the Grey moiety; at his death he was seised of two parts of the manor of Ayscugh and a moiety of the manor of Bedale.

Holding: Share / Two parts of the manor of Ayscugh and one moiety of the manor of Bedale / Grey Ayscugh and Bedale moiety

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

4. Joan Grey and John Deyncourt, Heiress of the Grey moiety of Bedale | 1408 - 1422

Transfer: Joan Grey, heiress of Sir Robert Grey, married John, Lord Deyncourt; a 1408 deed records Joan releasing rights in the manor of Bedale and related manors, and their son William Deyncourt succeeded to the inheritance.

Holding: Share / Grey moiety of the Bedale estate, with the associated Ayscugh interest / Deyncourt succession to the Grey moiety

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

5. William Deyncourt's co-heirs: Alice Deyncourt and Margaret Deyncourt, Co-heir of the Deyncourt Bedale inheritance, later Lady Lovel | 1422 - 1454

Transfer: William Deyncourt died under age in 1422, and the inheritance descended to his two daughters, Alice and Margaret, as co-heirs and tenants in common.

Holding: Joint / The former Grey/Deyncourt moiety, subdivided between two co-heirs / Deyncourt co-heirs

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

6. Alice, Lady Lovel and John, Lord Lovel, Viscount Lovel, lord of the Lovel Bedale moiety, 5th Baron Lovel, royal counsellor and diplomat | 1454 - 1474

Transfer: On Margaret Deyncourt's death without descendants in 1454, her share vested in her sister Alice; Alice died in 1474 and was succeeded by her son John, Lord Lovel.

Holding: Share / The Grey/Deyncourt moiety of the Bedale estate, including the associated Ayscugh interest / Lovel succession

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

7. Francis, Lord Lovel, Viscount Lovel, lord of Bedale | 1474 - 1487

Transfer: Succeeded his father John Lovel in the Lovel Bedale interest; the estate was forfeited to the Crown following his attainder in 1487.

Holding: Share / Lovel moiety of the Bedale estate, associated with the Ayscugh interest / Lovel moiety before Crown forfeiture

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

8. The Crown, Royal receiver of the forfeited Lovel Bedale moiety | 1487 - 1487

Transfer: The forfeited Lovel moiety was taken into royal hands after Francis Lovel's attainder; the Crown placed its receivership in Simon Digby.

Holding: Other / Forfeited Lovel moiety / Crown custody and receivership

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

9. Sir John Digby, Knight, Marshal of the King's Household, grantee of the forfeited Bedale and Aiscough possessions | 1498 - 1533

Transfer: After Simon Digby's death, Henry VII granted the forfeited Bedale estate to his brother Sir John Digby in tail male. A further grant confirmed in 1514 expressly included possessions in Bedale, Aiscough, Little Leeming and North Lees.

Holding: Share / The forfeited Lovel moiety and associated possessions in Bedale and Aiscough / Digby royal grant

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

10. John Digby, Holder of the Digby Bedale estate, Sheriff of Warwickshire and Leicestershire | 1535 - 1569

Transfer: Had livery of Bedale and related lands as kinsman and heir of Sir John Digby; the later Digby succession led to Simon Digby's possession before the 1569 rebellion.

Holding: Share / Digby interest in Bedale and Aiscough / Digby hereditary succession

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

- 11. Simon Digby, Esquire, holder of the Digby Bedale and Askue interest | 1569 - 1571
Transfer: Held the Digby Bedale and Aiscough interest until forfeiture after his participation in the Rising of the North; his attainder was confirmed by Parliament in 1571.
Holding: Share / Digby interest in Bedale and Aiscough / Digby interest before attainder
Relationship to present holder: Not recorded
- 12. Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick, royal commander in the suppression of the Rising of the North | 1571 - before 1583
Transfer: Elizabeth I granted the forfeited Bedale and Aiscough estate to Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick, who later conveyed it to John Jackson of Cowling.
Holding: Share / Forfeited Bedale and Aiscough estate / Elizabethan Crown grant
Relationship to present holder: Not recorded
- 13. John Jackson of Cowling, Esquire, holder of the Jackson Bedale interest | before 1583 - 1594
Transfer: Acquired the Bedale estate from Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick; after his death, his son George Jackson succeeded to the relevant half and conveyed it to Richard Theakston in 1594.
Holding: Share / Jackson interest in Bedale and associated Aiskew/Ascough property / Jackson holding
Relationship to present holder: Not recorded
- 14. Richard Theakston, Gentleman, holder of the Theakston moiety of Bedale | 1594 - before 1638
Transfer: George Jackson, who had succeeded his father in half the manor of Bedale, conveyed that half to Richard Theakston at Hilary 1594.
Holding: Share / One half of the manor of Bedale, with associated Ascough interests evidenced by the later 1638 recovery / Theakston moiety
Relationship to present holder: Not recorded
- 15. William Theakston and Dorothy Theakston, Knight, voucher in the recovery of the manors of Bedall and Ascough | 1638 - 1654
Transfer: Richard Peirse was plaintiff in a recovery of the manors of Bedall and Ascough at Michaelmas 1638, with William Theakston and Dorothy his wife as vouchers. The Theakston interest was later sequestrated during the Commonwealth period and released to Richard Theakston in 1654.
Holding: Share / Theakston interest in the manors of Bedall and Ascough / Theakston legal title and Commonwealth sequestration
Relationship to present holder: Not recorded
- 16. John Keeble, Purchaser from the Commonwealth Treason Trustees | 1653 - 1654
Transfer: The Treason Trustees sold the sequestrated Bedale estate to John Keeble during the Commonwealth, but the sale was superseded when the property was released to Richard Theakston in April 1654.
Holding: Other / Temporary Commonwealth sale of the sequestrated estate / Temporary Commonwealth purchaser
Relationship to present holder: Not recorded
- 17. John Peirse, Esquire, purchaser of half the manor of Bedale | c.1657 - 1658
Transfer: Purchased half the manor of Bedale from the Theakston family about 1657; a 1638 recovery had already linked the Peirse family with the manors of Bedall and Ascough.
Holding: Share / One half of the manor of Bedale, with associated Ascough property / Peirse acquisition of the Theakston moiety
Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

18. Richard Peirse, Lord of Bedale, Lazenby and Hutton Bonville | 1658 - 1708

Transfer: Succeeded his father John Peirse in the Peirse moiety of the Bedale estate, including the associated Ascough interest.

Holding: Share / Peirse moiety of the Bedale and Ascough estate / Peirse succession

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

19. Henry Peirse of Bedale, Member of Parliament for Northallerton, landed proprietor of Bedale | 1708 - 1759

Transfer: Inherited the Peirse Bedale estate from his grandfather Richard Peirse and made Bedale Hall his seat about 1716.

Holding: Share / Peirse moiety of the Bedale and associated Aiskew estate / Peirse estate at Bedale

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

20. Henry Peirse of Bedale, the younger, Member of Parliament for Northallerton, landed proprietor of Bedale | 1759 - 1824

Transfer: Succeeded his father Henry Peirse in the Peirse estate at Bedale and continued as its principal owner.

Holding: Share / Peirse moiety of the Bedale and associated Aiskew estate / Later Peirse estate

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

21. Henry William de la Poer Beresford-Peirse, Landed proprietor of Bedale, assumed the Peirse surname and arms | 1824 - 1859

Transfer: Inherited the Peirse manors of Bedale and Hutton Bonville through his aunt after the death of Henry Peirse the younger.

Holding: Share / Peirse moiety of the Bedale and associated Aiskew estate / Beresford-Peirse succession

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

22. Sir Henry Monson de la Poer Beresford-Peirse, 3rd Baronet, landed proprietor of Bedale and Aiskew | 1859 - 1890

Transfer: Succeeded his father Henry William in the Beresford-Peirse Bedale estate. In 1871 Lord Beaumont sold the Stapleton-associated Aiskew Manor House and estate interest to Sir Henry Beresford-Peirse, thereby bringing the previously separate interests into the Beresford-Peirse holding.

Holding: Joint / By 1871 the formerly separate Peirse and Stapleton interests were associated with the Beresford-Peirse estate; exact legal shares are not fully stated / Beresford-Peirse consolidation of Bedale and Aiskew interests

Relationship to present holder: Not recorded

DETAILED CONVEYANCE & DESCENT

HOLDER 1

early 14th century - 1317

John Grey of Rotherfield and Avice Marmion, Lord of Rotherfield, holder of the Grey Bedale inheritance

Transfer:

Aiskew formed part of the FitzHugh inheritance and appears to have been brought into the Bedale family through the marriage of Avice Marmion to John Grey of Rotherfield.

Previous holder:

FitzHugh family of Tanfield

Holding arrangement:

joint

Shared holding:

Grey marital acquisition associated with the Bedale estate

Narrative / explanation:

The source directly links the Aiskew inheritance to the FitzHugh and Grey families, but does not provide an exact conveyance date or specify whether the whole later manor or only lands in the township changed hands. The entry is therefore retained as a documented estate transition with qualified wording.

Source citation:

McCall, The Early History of Bedale in the North Riding of Yorkshire, chapter on the history of Bedale and Aiskew, stating that Aiskew formed part of the FitzHugh inheritance and was brought by marriage to John Grey of Rotherfield.

flourished early 14th century; died after 1322

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 2

1317 - 1317

Agnes FitzAlan and Gilbert de Stapleton, Knight, holder of the Stapleton moiety of Bedale

AISKEW MANOR

Transfer:

Partition of the FitzAlan inheritance after livery of the co-heirs; half the manor of Bedale was assigned to each sister, with Agnes's moiety passing through her marriage to Gilbert de Stapleton.

Previous holder:

Brian FitzAlan and the Crown wardship administration

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

One moiety of the Bedale estate; associated Aiskew interests are not separately quantified

Shared holding:

Stapleton moiety

Narrative / explanation:

The source establishes the 1317 partition of the Bedale estate and the Stapleton descent from Agnes FitzAlan. It does not state that all Aiskew lands were in this moiety, so the Aiskew connection is recorded as part of the wider Bedale estate rather than as a precisely measured share.

Source citation:

McCall, The Early History of Bedale, pp. 45-46, stating that in 1317 the properties were partitioned and half the manor of Bedale assigned to each FitzAlan sister.

Person dates:

died before 23 June 1324

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 3

1388 - 1408

Sir Robert Grey, Knight, lord of the Grey moiety of Bedale, holder of two parts of Ayscugh

Transfer:

Inherited or succeeded to the Grey moiety; at his death he was seised of two parts of the manor of Ayscugh and a moiety of the manor of Bedale.

Previous holder:

Grey descendants of John Grey of Rotherfield

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

Two parts of the manor of Ayscugh and one moiety of the manor of Bedale

AISKEW MANOR

Shared holding:

Grey Ayscugh and Bedale moiety

Narrative / explanation:

This is the strongest medieval direct evidence for the Aiskew/Ascough manor identity. The 1388 inquisition states that Sir Robert Grey held two parts of the manor of Ayscugh together with a moiety of Bedale.

Source citation:

Inquisition cited by McCall, The Early History of Bedale, p. 59, stating that Sir Robert Grey died seised of a moiety of Bedale and two parts of the manor of Ayscugh.

Person dates:

died 14 January 1388

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 4*1408 - 1422*Joan Grey and John Deyncourt, Heiress of the Grey moiety of Bedale*Transfer:

Joan Grey, heiress of Sir Robert Grey, married John, Lord Deyncourt; a 1408 deed records Joan releasing rights in the manor of Bedale and related manors, and their son William Deyncourt succeeded to the inheritance.

Previous holder:

Sir Robert Grey

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

Grey moiety of the Bedale estate, with the associated Ayscugh interest

Shared holding:

Deyncourt succession to the Grey moiety

Narrative / explanation:

The cited evidence directly establishes the succession of the Grey Bedale interest and refers to the related Ayscugh holding through the preceding 1388 inquisition. It does not provide a separate 1408 description of the Ayscugh parcels.

Source citation:

McCall, The Early History of Bedale, pp. 59-60, citing a 1408 deed and the succession of Joan Grey and William Deyncourt.

Person dates:

died 6 December 1408

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 5

1422 - 1454

William Deyncourt's co-heirs: Alice Deyncourt and Margaret Deyncourt, Co-heir of the Deyncourt Bedale inheritance, later Lady Lovel

Transfer:

William Deyncourt died under age in 1422, and the inheritance descended to his two daughters, Alice and Margaret, as co-heirs and tenants in common.

Previous holder:

William Deyncourt

Holding arrangement:

joint

Share / interest:

The former Grey/Deyncourt moiety, subdivided between two co-heirs

Shared holding:

Deyncourt co-heirs

Narrative / explanation:

The source states that the Bedale moiety was divided between the two sisters as tenants in common. The connection to Ayscugh is through the documented Grey moiety rather than a separately described Ayscugh conveyance.

Source citation:

McCall, The Early History of Bedale, pp. 60-61, describing the Deyncourt co-heirs and subdivision of the Bedale moiety.

Person dates:

flourished 15th century; died after 1474

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 6

1454 - 1474

Alice, Lady Lovel and John, Lord Lovel, Viscount Lovel, lord of the Lovel Bedale moiety, 5th Baron Lovel, royal counsellor and diplomat

Transfer:

On Margaret Deyncourt's death without descendants in 1454, her share vested in her sister Alice; Alice died in 1474 and was succeeded by her son John, Lord Lovel.

Previous holder:

Margaret Deyncourt and Alice Deyncourt as co-heirs

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

The Grey/Deyncourt moiety of the Bedale estate, including the associated Ayscugh interest

Shared holding:

Lovel succession

Narrative / explanation:

The source explicitly describes this as the succession of the Bedale moiety. The Aiskew/Ascough connection is maintained because the preceding direct record places two parts of Ayscugh in the Grey moiety.

Source citation:

McCall, The Early History of Bedale, pp. 60-61, describing the vesting of Margaret's share in Alice and the succession of John Lovel.

Person dates:

born before 1454; died or disappeared after 1487

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 7*1474 - 1487*Francis, Lord Lovel, Viscount Lovel, lord of Bedale*Transfer:

Succeeded his father John Lovel in the Lovel Bedale interest; the estate was forfeited to the Crown following his attainder in 1487.

Previous holder:

John, Lord Lovel

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

Lovel moiety of the Bedale estate, associated with the Ayscugh interest

Shared holding:

Lovel moiety before Crown forfeiture

Narrative / explanation:

Francis Lovel is described as lord of Bedale. His lands and honours were forfeited by attainder in 1487. The cited source does not separately list Ayscugh in the attainder passage, but the Ayscugh interest is part of the documented Grey/Lovel moiety descent.

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 8*1487 - 1487*The Crown, Royal receiver of the forfeited Lovel Bedale moiety

AISKEW MANOR

Transfer:

The forfeited Lovel moiety was taken into royal hands after Francis Lovel's attainder; the Crown placed its receivership in Simon Digby.

Previous holder:

Francis, Lord Lovel

Holding arrangement:

other

Share / interest:

Forfeited Lovel moiety

Shared holding:

Crown custody and receivership

Narrative / explanation:

Simon Digby's role in 1487 was expressly described as receivership, not necessarily full beneficial ownership. The distinction is preserved here.

Source citation:

McCall, The Early History of Bedale, pp. 63-64, describing the Crown's custody and Simon Digby's receivership of the Bedale moiety.

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 9*1498 - 1533

Sir John Digby, Knight, Marshal of the King's Household, grantee of the forfeited Bedale and Aiscough possessions

Transfer:

After Simon Digby's death, Henry VII granted the forfeited Bedale estate to his brother Sir John Digby in tail male. A further grant confirmed in 1514 expressly included possessions in Bedale, Aiscough, Little Leeming and North Lees.

Previous holder:

The Crown and Simon Digby as royal receiver

Holding arrangement:

share

AISKEW MANOR

Share / interest:

The forfeited Lovel moiety and associated possessions in Bedale and Aiscough

Shared holding:

Digby royal grant

Narrative / explanation:

This is a direct and strong link to Aiscough: the 1514 confirmation explicitly names possessions in Aiscough. The original 1498 grant is described in the source as a grant of Bedale, with the 1514 confirmation expanding or confirming the relevant possessions.

Source citation:

Relationship to present holder

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 10*1535 - 1569*John Digby, Holder of the Digby Bedale estate, Sheriff of Warwickshire and Leicestershire*Transfer:

Had livery of Bedale and related lands as kinsman and heir of Sir John Digby; the later Digby succession led to Simon Digby's possession before the 1569 rebellion.

Previous holder:

Sir John Digby

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

Digby interest in Bedale and Aiscough

Shared holding:

Digby hereditary succession

Narrative / explanation:

The source records John's livery of Bedale and related property in 1535. It states that William Digby was a minor in 1550-51 and that Simon Digby, apparently his younger brother, succeeded before the 1569 rebellion. The exact intermediate dates are not fully stated.

1569 - 1571

Simon Digby, Esquire, holder of the Digby Bedale and Askue interest

Transfer:

Held the Digby Bedale and Aiscough interest until forfeiture after his participation in the Rising of the North; his attainder was confirmed by Parliament in 1571.

Previous holder:

John or William Digby

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

Digby interest in Bedale and Aiscough

Shared holding:

Digby interest before attainder

Narrative / explanation:

Simon Digby is directly associated with Askue and the Bedale estate. His estate was forfeited after the 1569 rebellion. The source identifies the attainder as applying to Simon Digby of Askue in Yorkshire.

HOLDER 12

1571 - before 1583

Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick, royal commander in the suppression of the Rising of the North

Transfer:

Elizabeth I granted the forfeited Bedale and Ascough estate to Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick, who later conveyed it to John Jackson of Cowling.

Previous holder:

The Crown after Simon Digby's attainder

Holding arrangement:

Share / interest:

Forfeited Bedale and Ascough estate

Shared holding:

Elizabethan Crown grant

Narrative / explanation:

The source explicitly states that Elizabeth gave the Bedale of the rebel Digby to Ambrose, Earl of Warwick, and that he did not retain it long before conveying the estate to John Jackson.

HOLDER 13

before 1583 - 1594

John Jackson of Cowling, Esquire, holder of the Jackson Bedale interest

AISKEW MANOR

Transfer:

Acquired the Bedale estate from Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick; after his death, his son George Jackson succeeded to the relevant half and conveyed it to Richard Theakston in 1594.

Previous holder:

Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

Jackson interest in Bedale and associated Aiskew/Ascough property

Shared holding:

Jackson holding

Narrative / explanation:

The conveyance date from Warwick to John Jackson is not stated in the source, but it occurred before John's death and burial at Bedale in October 1583. A local estate chronology also records Jackson and Stapleton interests in Bedale and Aiskew in 1586.

Source citation:

AISKEW MANOR

Share / interest:

One half of the manor of Bedale, with associated Ascough interests evidenced by the later 1638 recovery

Shared holding:

Theakston moiety

Narrative / explanation:

The 1594 conveyance is directly stated for half the manor of Bedale. The connection to Aiskew/Ascough is supported by a 1638 recovery concerning the manors of Bedall and Ascough and by later evidence that the Theakston family held the relevant Aiskew Manor House and estate. The precise division of the Aiskew parcels in 1594 is not stated.

No published relationship path recorded.

HOLDER 15

1638 - 1654

William Theakston and Dorothy Theakston, Knight, voucher in the recovery of the manors of Bedall and Ascough

Transfer:

Richard Peirse was plaintiff in a recovery of the manors of Bedall and Ascough at Michaelmas 1638, with William Theakston and Dorothy his wife as vouchers. The Theakston interest was later sequestrated during the Commonwealth period and released to Richard Theakston in 1654.

Share / interest:

Theakston interest in the manors of Bedall and Ascough

Shared holding:

Theakston legal title and Commonwealth sequestration

Narrative / explanation:

The 1638 recovery proves a direct legal connection between the Theakston family, the manors of Bedall and Ascough, and Richard Peirse. The source treats the Theakston property as a moiety of the Bedale

HOLDER 16

1653 - 1654

John Keeble, Purchaser from the Commonwealth Treason Trustees

Transfer:

The Treason Trustees sold the sequestered Bedale estate to John Keeble during the Commonwealth, but the sale was superseded when the property was released to Richard Theakston in April 1654.

Previous holder:

Theakston family under Commonwealth sequestration

Holding arrangement:

other

Share / interest:

Temporary Commonwealth sale of the sequestered estate

Shared holding:

Temporary Commonwealth purchaser

Narrative / explanation:

John Keeble's interest was a temporary Commonwealth sale, not a stable descent of the manor. The source states that the property was released to Richard Theakston in 1654 after the circumstances of the sequestration were reviewed.

HOLDER 17

c.1657 - 1658

John Peirse, Esquire, purchaser of half the manor of Bedale

Transfer:

Purchased half the manor of Bedale from the Theakston family about 1657; a 1638 recovery had already linked the Peirse family with the manors of Bedall and Ascough.

Previous holder:

Richard Theakston and the Theakston family

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

One half of the manor of Bedale, with associated Ascough property

Shared holding:

Peirse acquisition of the Theakston moiety

Narrative / explanation:

McCall gives the approximate date and identifies the transaction as a purchase of half the manor of Bedale. The Aiskew/Ascough link is direct in the 1638 recovery of the manors of Bedall and Ascough, but the source does not itemize the precise Aiskew acreage included in the c.1657 purchase.

Source citation:

Previous holder:

John Peirse

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

Peirse moiety of the Bedale and Ascough estate

Shared holding:

Peirse succession

Narrative / explanation:

The source states that Richard Peirse succeeded his father in Bedale and was also lord of Lazenby and Hutton Bonville. The connection to Ascough derives from the 1638 recovery and the family's acquisition of the Theakston moiety.

Inherited the Peirse Bedale estate from his grandfather Richard Peirse and made Bedale Hall his seat about 1716.

Previous holder:

Richard Peirse

Holding arrangement:

share

Share / interest:

Peirse moiety of the Bedale and associated Aiskew estate

Shared holding:

Peirse estate at Bedale

Narrative / explanation:

The source identifies Henry Peirse as heir of his grandfather and grand-uncle and later states that he made Bedale Hall his seat about 1716. The Aiskew estate connection is supported by the documented Bedale and Aiskew estate and later title deeds.

HOLDER 22

1859 - 1890

Sir Henry Monson de la Poer Beresford-Peirse, 3rd Baronet, landed proprietor of Bedale and Aiskew

Transfer:

Succeeded his father Henry William in the Beresford-Peirse Bedale estate. In 1871 Lord Beaumont sold the Stapleton-associated Aiskew Manor House and estate interest to Sir Henry Beresford-Peirse, thereby bringing the previously separate interests into the Beresford-Peirse holding.

Previous holder:

Henry William de la Poer Beresford-Peirse for the Peirse interest; Lord Beaumont for the Stapleton interest

Holding arrangement:

joint

Share / interest:

By 1871 the formerly separate Peirse and Stapleton interests were associated with the Beresford-Peirse estate; exact legal shares are not fully stated

Shared holding:

Beresford-Peirse consolidation of Bedale and Aiskew interests

Narrative / explanation:

The 1890 Bulmer account states that the Manor House at Aiskew had long been the property of the Stapletons until sold by Lord Beaumont in 1871 to Sir Henry Beresford-Peirse. McCall records Sir Henry's succession to the Beresford-Peirse estate in 1859. The sources support a 1871 transfer of the Stapleton-associated Aiskew property but do not prove that every legal component of the historic Aiskew manor was transferred on that date.
